

Alex Jackson | Personal Profile

Intermediate Mechanical Design Engineer

Profile

Since joining TNG Consulting Engineers in 2011, Alex has been focusing on his studies and building a broad range of project experience. He has gained a BTEC Level 3 Diploma at Southampton City College and an HND in Building Services at London South Bank University on day-release, excelling at both levels. He is currently continuing his studies and is on the Degree course at South Bank.

Alex has proved to be a very capable and professional Engineer who is more than proficient at running small and medium sized projects. His abilities have surpassed our expectations and this is testament to his dedication to his studies and his work.

Alex is an all-round team player who will be supportive and effective in any team. He will provide a calm and considered approach to any project, and in any situation, and will build good relationships with all members of a project team.

Qualifications

BTEC HND Building Services Engineering from London South Bank University
BTEC Level 3 Diploma in Construction and the Built Environment

Memberships

Student of CIBSE

More about Alex

An interesting fact about me... I am a triplet.

One day I would like to... see England win the World Cup.

What I love best about being an Engineer ... every project is a new challenge!